

MAKE SCHOOL

SEEKING HELP

Introducing the Help Queue!

JOINING IS EASY!

DASHBOARDTRACKSPIAZZASTACKOVERFLOWHELP QUEUE

Code Help

There are 0 people in the queue ahead of you.

JOIN

For when you have an issue with Swift or Xcode. Please make an attempt to track down the root of the problem on your own. This is essential for your personal growth as a developer! (Issues related to the tutorials should be posted to Piazza.)

ENTER YOUR QUESTION

Join Code Help

Change Queue

There are 0 people in the queue ahead of you.

Where can we find you?

Location or Table #

What can we help you with?

Describe your problem in a sentence or two:

Describe what you changed or added to your code that caused this problem to appear:

Tell us what keywords you have tried Googling to find a solution (try 3-5 searches on your own before asking for help):

CONTINUE WORKING WHILE YOU WAIT

SUMMER ACADEMY

DASHBOARDTRACKSPIAZZASTACKOVERFLOW

HELP QUEUE

Track Progress

3%

Lessons

Asking Questions with Piazza

COMPLETE

1 of 1 steps completed

Code Help

Updated 2:58 PM

PLACE IN LINE
1

CANCEL REQUEST

Today

HELP QUEUE BEST PRACTICES

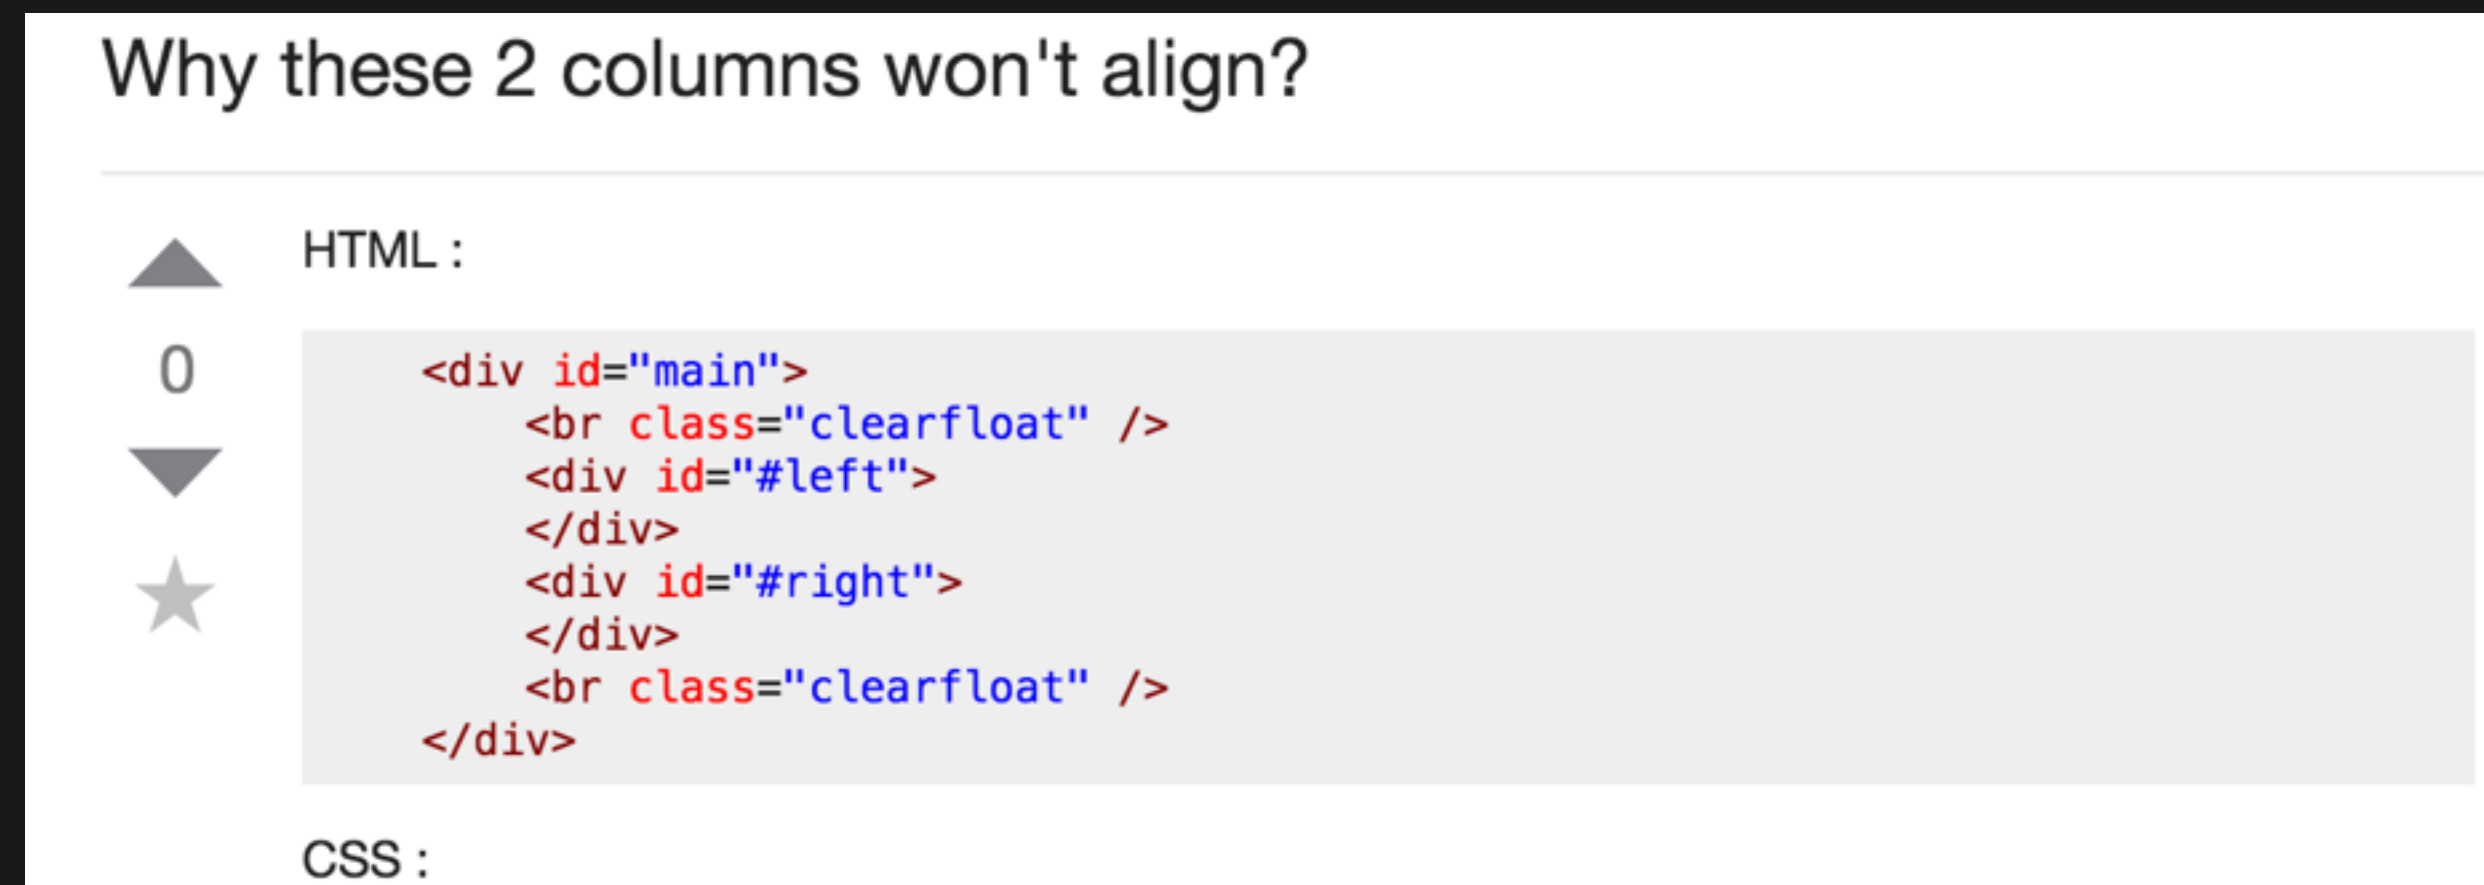

Use the debugging practices we've discussed to narrow down the source of the problem.

Search Google and look at first few Stack Overflow (SO) results.

Use Help Queue (Include relevant SO links you found).

EFFECTIVE QUESTIONS

POORLY WORDED QUESTIONS

Not searchable.

Not very specific.

Perhaps change to “How do I align two columns using CSS?”

Add more detail than just a title.

PROPERLY WORDED QUESTIONS

Pretend you are the person attempting to answer the question.

Descriptive and specific title.

Provide as many details and as much context as possible.

Re-read it and make sure you have all the necessary details!

Important skills to be used after this summer.

FURTHER READING

<http://tinyurl.com/stack-hints>

MAKE
SCHOOL